Meghan AND Richard

PHOTOGRAPHY BY DETAILS BY DiFRANCO

AUGUST 22, 2009

AFTER A FAMILY MEMBER SUGGESTED MEGHAN AND RICK LOOK AT THE Atkinson Country Club for their wedding reception, they visited the location and knew it would be perfect for their big day. The beautiful green landscape with a pond was the picturesque setting they had dreamed about.

Special details were incorporated throughout the couples wedding. Justice of the Peace, Jeff DeMarco, suggested a tradition where Meghan and Rick wrote a letter to each other and placed it inside a box that they would open on their 10th anniversary. A candy buffet was also a perfect wedding favor and gathering spot for guests. Guests filled custom made candy bags with the delicious treats

The throwing of the bridal bouquet was replaced with a Generations Dance. All of the married couples danced to the song, "When You Love Someone" by Brian Adams. Couples would leave the dance floor as DJ, Ken Dionne, announced total years of marriage, leaving the longest married couple dancing at the end. Rick's grandparents, having been married for 57 years, were proud to take home the bridal bouquet.

Meghan lost her Memere 12 days before the wedding. The emotional rollercoaster of losing someone so close mixed with the planning of what would be the happiest day of her life was a bit of a challenge. Meghan placed a picture of her Memere into a key chain and on the back wrote "With me in spirit 8-22-09". She tied it around the base of her bridal bouquet so it would hang over her hand as she walked down the aisle.
